

La Genzianella
ALPINE CHIC HOTEL

TOUR: BORMIO1215MT > PASSO UMBRAIL2503MT > PRATO ALLO STELVIO915MT > PASSO STELVIO2758MT > BORMIO1215MT

LENGTH KM 100
TOTAL VERTICAL CLIMB ca. 3190MT

Download map & info on www.bikemap.net/route/808123

This spectacular tour allows you to discover the three sides of Stelvio Pass.

The Stelvio Pass or Stilfserjoch, how it is called in German, is one of Italy's roofs with its 2758 m. At the same time, it is one of the highest Alpine Passes of Europe.

You will depart from Bormio 1215mt, reach the umbraile Pass and cross the Swiss border. The road is well kept, but for a few km the road is unpaved. You will enter Italy again in Tubre. The flat road will conduct you to Prato allo Stelvio and then Gomagoi, where starts the South Tyrol, and hardest side of the Stelvio. The original road was built in 1820-1825 by the Austrian Empire to connect the former Austrian province of Lombardia with the rest of Austria, covering a climb of 1871 m on the Alto Adige side. Since then, the route has changed very little. The scenery is really spectacular, but you have to be well trained to enjoy the panorama!